Seas of Fortune is a casual game play experience for the HTC Vive and Oculus Rift headsets. It consists of a story-driven experience with a nice comedic tone and some of the most innovative puzzles in games ever designed. Play through more than 100 animated scenes in the game, and follow the adventures of space explorer Tommynaut and his blind alien talking dog, Beak-Beak! A never ending journey for the player to explore and discover! The life of a black hole is a matter of days. A few hundred million years of feast and the black hole is pulled down into nothing. Packed with galaxies that collide, exploding stars and collapsing stars, the black hole is the most violent place to exist in our Universe. But the black hole is a dangerous place for us to be, as anyone who comes too close can be ripped apart by the strength of the tides and pulled into the black hole. And even when the black hole is gone, the scattered mess of stars will still be there, and science has no idea what these stars will do in the future. The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey is a 2013 fantasy adventure film directed by Peter Jackson and written by Fran Walsh and Philippa Boyens, based on the novel The Hobbit by J.R.R. Tolkien. It is the second and final part of Jackson's Middle-earth-based trilogy, the first being The Lord of the Rings (2001-2003), and is the fifth installment in The Hobbit film series. The plot follows the adventure of Bilbo Baggins (Martin Freeman), an unemployed adventurer who plays a major role in the downfall of Sauron's forces and the liberation of his homelands. The film features an ensemble cast, including Ian McKellen, Richard Armitage, Evangeline Lilly, Lee Pace, Lee Pace, Andy Serkis, Luke Evans, Cate Blanchett, Orlando Bloom, and Christopher Lee. In November 2012, the film was renewed for a December 2012 theatrical release, giving it two release dates: The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey in December 2012, and The Hobbit: The Desolation of Smaug in December 2013. Mishaps & Misadventures with Lots of Miscellany Thursday, August 13, 2007 What Happened on the Weekend? I'm a nester and I don't do nesters. I have done house and dog sitting many times in the past - I am a great plant-keeper, having dutifully tended the vase upon those dreary days when no one else on the planet gave a fig about the flowers. I am very good with pets and can handle horses as well as long as the animal is on the ground. I also make good better's eyesight ;o) Maintaining 'just the right level' of chaos was no problem for me. But it has always been an abject failure as a full-time job. There is a great big green swimming-pool out the back, the shade of a grove of olive trees, with a jetty jutting off at the deep end. Yesterday was the first time we used the pool in quite a while, but today was so thoroughly hot that swimming seemed a bit redundant. I got a groaning chairlift to the top, played ditto-chair tennis, had a bracing game of lawn-tennis and then slowly walked down the far side for a cool-dip in the cool 'B' end. The cool-end, that is. I managed to fall into the gentle stream in the dark corner at the midden end. My left leg went down first, then my left ankle, my shin, my ankle again and up to the knee. Cue shriek of pain and drama. Then I slipped off the big wall onto the grass. Slippery when wet but the shoe soles are stitched leather. But not as sewn as the landscape. Eventually I hobbled over to the house, took the help of a lovely pair of crutches and left a trail of blood-filled watermarks on the polished timber floor as I hobbled over to some water. I stayed there, just in case a snake crawled in. If you look at the front door after a dog or a cat has had their me-too paws outside, sometimes you find a little trail of paw prints in the blood. Hence the limping sappy self of today. I'm sooo pathetic. It's as the dog said: "some leg -

In Sandbox, the goal is to become the PBA champion and beat real-life professional bowler Joey Garber as many times as possible. You're rewarded with $ for each point you defeat Garber, while he is punished with $ lost for each point he loses, so the goal is to get Garber out of the game as often as you can. After each match you'll get to see your stats on a leaderboard and a bottom of the hour, day and week report. Collect bonuses, customize your ball and develop new patterns in order to build up your game! With your new pattern, you'll be able to unlock new leagues and competitions, as well as play in different conditions than you have access to in the real world! When you're ready to take things to the next level, take the Sandbox challenge and beat Joey Garber. PBA VR bowling will be available on: Facebook and Oculus Home for the new Oculus Quest Oculus Go, Oculus Quest and Quest with Oculus Link PSVR, HTC Vive and Valve Index and many more platforms. - Added support for cross play on PC and PlayStation. - Added more lanes. - Fixed issue where some lanes had too few pins on them. - Fixed issue where when you use oil, your lane will light up. - Fixed issue where you could skip the House Shot. - Fixed issue where some users were unable to use the ball editor. - Optimized the ball physics on Android devices. - Fixed issue with saved games. - Fixed issue with VR controllers in some games. - Fixed issue where "Easy Setup" option is not disabled. - Improved audio balance and improved screen transition issues. - Improved auto H.O.L.D animation on Android. - Fixed issue where the option to use the PlayStation 4 controller isn't available. - Fixed issue where the auto-fit wasn't fixed on smartphones. - Fixed issue where when you used the ball editor, you couldn't save your settings. - Fixed issue where the line up for Daily/Weekly Top/Yearly League wasn't fixed. - Fixed issue where the two-handed option was broken on some devices. - Fixed issue where the scores were not saved when you used the auto-pin option. - Improved the graphics/lighting, especially in VR. - Improved issue where the menu was not properly responsive when playing in VR. -
