The player tries to collect the most cards, and if they can play more cards than their opponent, they win. I'm in for four players, one of whom may want to switch to Fiasco and I have to tell them that they have to know how to play it already. My thinking is to test out what they know, get them to learn it, then have them play two games with everyone trying to win. What do other people think? All in all you will not get a better tournament than this one. Thumbs up. Last edited by D'earth; 09-25-2017 at 10:07 AM. It's the journey, not the destination that matters most.
