focused on outcome at hospital discharge. Data about long-term outcome in the community are sparse. The aim of our study was to assess clinical outcome in the community at two years follow-up. A nationwide multi-centre prospective study was conducted (the Trauma-Brains Study) in two years after a trauma to the brain. The cohort included people treated for major trauma with their first episode of brain injury. Face-to-face interviews were conducted with survivors and in the case of loss to follow-up by interviewing proxies. Outcome measures included: general health state, cognitive status, activities of daily living, work status, living situation and perceived risk of re-injury. We included 1167 participants (72% men). Mean age was 42.6 years (SD=17.3 years); 92% were injured in a traffic accident c6a93da74d
