After this point I am currently logged in to my usual account on OWA? Some context: Right now I have a free account at Outlook Web Apps and I want to migrate this account to Office 365. So I went through the setup Wizard and setup an Office 365 account. From that point I am kind of lost. There are two different point that I have questions about: How do I move my mailbox to the new O365 account? My mailbox has the status of an "Open" so that Office 365 with my new account can migrate the mailbox data to this new account. So does this mean that every time I open Outlook (even when I go through the Migration process) I will be logged in and see my emails in my new account? Can I go through the Migration Wizard with two accounts? (free and Office 365) Or will I have to get rid of my free account first? A: You need to be logged in to OWA on the new account before you make the change to the account. You only need to sign out of the OWA on the free account. Yes, you will be logged in as that second account when you access the OWA. Cone-beam computed tomography-guided placement of hydrophilic endosseous implants in edentulous jaws--a pilot study.
